

The 19th International and 55th Annual ELTAI Conference on Lessons Taught, Lessons Learnt: Teacher and Learner Narratives

12 – 15 November 2025 (Wednesday – Saturday)

Organised by
English Language Teachers'
Association of India (ELTAI)

Hosted by
Department of English and Cultural Studies,
Christ University, Bengaluru

We are delighted to invite abstract submissions for the upcoming ELTAI Annual Conference, to be held at Christ University, Bengaluru. This prestigious event brings together educators, researchers, students, and professionals to share their experiences and insights into the ever-evolving world of English language and literature teaching. At the heart of this year's conference is the belief that every classroom holds stories worth telling: stories of challenge, change, discovery and growth. We welcome presentations that explore personal and professional learning moments, pedagogical experiments, integration of technology, and responses to educational policies.

Whether you are a teacher, learner, parent, policymaker, or industry professional, your voice adds value to this conversation. Come, share your narrative, connect with a community of passionate educators, and help shape the future of English education in India.

Original and unpublished abstracts are invited on any of the following domains

Domain I: Teachers of English

Domain II: Learners of English

Domain III: Educational and Language Policies

Domain IV: Technology in Language Teaching and Learning

Domain V: The Future of English

Journal of English Language Teaching (JELT)

Founded in 1965, the Journal of English Language Teaching (JELT) is India's longest-standing and most respected journal in the field of English language education. As the flagship publication of the English Language Teachers' Association of India (ELTAI), JELT serves as a scholarly forum for English language educators, teacher trainers, and researchers to exchange academic insights and evidence-based pedagogical practices.

As a UGC CARE-listed journal, JELT upholds rigorous academic standards and contributes to the advancement of research in English language teaching. This international, double-blind, peer-reviewed journal is published bimonthly, producing six issues annually. Committed to fostering professional development in English language teaching and research, JELT accepts submissions throughout the year, facilitating a sustained academic discourse on emerging trends and best practices in ELT. For further information on the journal, access to past issues, and submission guidelines, please visit <https://journals.eltai.in/jelt>
