

Love Forever

Anisha Yadav

“Knit in your arms and close to you
I see hope and no sorrow
For thine love now bounds me to roots
Behold me.....
For life is short.
We’ve passed years of fight
And now that life is short.....
Let’s love eternally for this moment
Would never return.....
And leave impressions in our heart....Forever.
We might change.....
But love will remain forever”

Anisha Yadav is a student of Bhopal School of Social Sciences, and currently pursuing her Masters in English. Four of her poems have appeared twice in Literary herald. She has completed a creative writing certificate course from her college.